Declaration of Bonus Debenture: A Case of Britannia Industries Limited

Barnali Chaklader and Puja Aggarwal¹

Board of directors of Britannia Industries Limited (BIL) at their meeting in May 2009, approved a scheme of bonus debentures to be issued to their shareholders. They proposed to issue one fully paid debenture of Rs. 170 for every Rs. 10 equity share held.

The scheme was approved by the shareholders at the general meeting held in August 2009.

The Committee of the Board of Directors (the Board), at its meeting held on 22 March 2010, pursuant to the scheme of arrangement (the Scheme) sanctioned by the Honorable Calcutta High Court on 11 February 2010 allotted 8.25% secured fully paid-up redeemable non-convertible bonus debentures (the bonus debentures) from the general reserve, in the ratio of one debenture of the face value of Rs.170 for every equity share held by the shareholders of the Company as on 9 March 2010. The aggregate amount of the debentures was Rs. 4061 Million Approx. The debentures were allotted on 22 March 2010. Since the issue of bonus debentures is treated as 'deemed dividend' under the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961, Accordingly the Company remitted Rs.690,222 as dividend distribution tax and utilized general reserve for the payment of the same. The debentures issued by the company are secured and are redeemable at par on the third anniversary of the issue. These Bonus Debentures have since been listed on BSE, NSE and CSE. These Debentures were rated AAA/Stable by CRISIL.

The Company's equity shares and bonus debentures are listed on Bombay Stock Exchange, Calcutta Stock Exchange and National Stock Exchange of India Ltd.

Bonus Shares, Bonus Debentures and Dividend: A Comparative Analysis

Bonus Shares

Bonus issue of shares is referred to as capitalization of reserves and profits. When the company accumulates substantial amount of past profits, it is desirable to bring the amount of issued share capital closer to the actual capital employed of the company. This would help in reflecting the true amount of capital invested by the shareholders in the company.

There is no specific section in the Companies Act 1956 dealing with bonus shares. There are inferences about bonus shares in various sections of Companies Act 1956 1956. Following points can be made about bonus shares on the basis of different inferences about bonus shares in various sections of the Companies Act 1956.

The Capitalization of profits by bonus issue can be done in two ways as given below:

- Making partly paid shares fully paid- The effect of bonus issue in this case is that the paid up value of equity shares is increased without any change in the number of shares issued. Companies Act does not permit the use of Securities Premium and Capital Redemption Reserve
- Issue of Bonus Shares

- ✓ The Capitalization of reserves and profit by a company generally takes the form of issue of bonus shares to existing equity shareholders in proportion to their holding of equity shares
- ✓ As a Shareholder is not required to pay for these shares, the number of shares held by shareholder increases without any change in the Cost of the shares
- ✓ As from the company's point of view, it increases number of shares and share capital with corresponding decrease in its reserves and surplus balance.
- By whatever form bonus shares are issued, the process results in reducing the amount of 'Reserves and Surplus' and Increasing the amount of 'Share Capital'.

Bonus Debentures

One of the ways to make investors happy is to distribute deemed dividends in the form of bonus debentures.

Bonus debentures are issued to the shareholders by capitalizing the reserves and thus nothing is charged from the shareholders. These debentures are free of cost. The companies capitalize the reserves to issue debentures that are redeemed after a specified period. Interest on these debentures is paid during this period. Bonus debenture has a face value, an interest rate and maturity period. Company redeems bonus debenture when the maturity period becomes due. The reserves that the company distributes belong to the shareholders. By getting bonus debentures, the shareholders get interest in all the years till the debentures are mature. Company also benefits by getting the advantage of tax as the interest on debenture is tax deductible. Bonus debentures do not dilute the share value like bonus shares and the company can take the advantage of leverage. Company defers cash outflow till the time it pays interest or redeems the debentures.

For tax purposes, the allotment of bonus debentures would be treated as dividend. Since bonus debentures are issued out of the post-tax profit accumulated by the company, the company does not get any deduction in the income statement for the value of the debentures that have been issued. Company pays a dividend distribution tax on the amount of bonus debentures issued. In subsequent years, when the debentures are either sold or redeemed, the sale price or the redemption amount received by the debenture holder will not be taxable to the extent of the capital value of the debentures already taxed as dividend in the year of the issue of the bonus debentures. Only the additional appreciation will be taxed as capital gains

Dividend

Dividend is the distribution of divisible profits by a company to its shareholders by way of return on their investment in the shares, after complying with the provisions of Companies Act 1956. Section 205 of Companies Act 1956 deals with the various aspects of Declaration and payment of dividend. The company is also required to pay a dividend distribution tax on the amount of dividend declared by the company

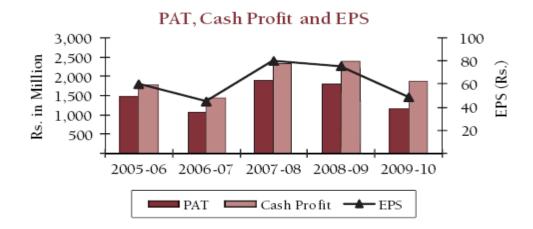

Shareholder's Dilemma

Some of the existing Shareholders of the company were wondering whether the company has taken the right decision by issuing the bonus debentures. They could not come to a satisfactory answer as to why the company declared bonus debentures for the first time in its history instead of issuing bonus shares as it had announced in the past.

Case Review Questions

- 1. What could be the rationale of issuing bonus debentures by Britannia Industries Limited instead of issuing bonus shares or paying cash dividends?
- 2. What was the impact on profitability position and capital structure of the company after the company issued bonus debentures in 2010?
- 3. What would have been the impact on profitability position and capital structure of the company if the company had issued bonus shares instead of bonus debentures?
